

Thank you for accessing the S&P Global Market Intelligence, LLC (“S&P”) Data Protection Appendix (“DPA”) landing page.

To access the DPA that applies to subscription contracts between S&P or S&P’s affiliates and their respective clients (by example, Pricing Schedules, Order Forms, GICS Schedule A, and Capital IQ Letter Amendments), please click HERE for S&P’s DPA which governs your contract.

To access DPA that applies to distribution contracts between S&P or S&P’s affiliates and their respective clients (by example, S&P Master Distribution Agreements, and GICS Distribution Agreements), please click HERE for S&P’s DPA which governs your contract.

If you are unsure what type of contract your company has with S&P, please contact your S&P Relationship Manager.

China Standard Contract Clauses:

From June 1st 2023 S&P clients who (i) are established in and/or employ S&P product users who are located in Mainland China (“China”) and/or (ii) were not required to apply previously for Cyberspace Administration of China (“CAC”) approval for their cross-border transfers of China personal information should consider if they should (a) enter into standard contract procedures for the transfer of China personal information out of China under the Personal Information Protection Law in the model form published by the CAC on February 22nd 2023 and (b) file such Chinese language document with the local branch of the CAC or appropriate PRC authorities. Please click HERE for such document, already prepopulated with information by S&P in respect the services it offers.
